

October Webinar

MENS SHEDS: MENTORING PROGRAMS FOR UNEMPLOYED YOUNG MALES WITH INTELLECTUAL DISABILITY

Presenter: Associate Professor Nathan Wilson

Date and time: 13 October 2020 at 6.30pm (AEDT)

Cost: PANDDA members free, non-members $40

About the presenter:

Nathan is an Associate Professor at School of Nursing and Midwifery at Western Sydney University . He has a background as a nurse specialising the in the care of people with intellectual and developmental disability. As a researcher, he is interested in applied studies that enhance the health, wellbeing and participation of people with disabilities. Nathan holds the role of President of Professional Association of Nurses in Developmental Disabilities, Australia (PANDDA )

Academic Qualifications: GCertSc(Applied Statistics) Swinburne University of Technology, PhD University of Sydney, MSc University of Birmingham

The presentation

Gaining employment can be challenging for young adults with intellectual disability (ID). Nathan will discuss a study on a mentoring intervention to help counter barriers to employment and report on the results and learnings from this work including assessed quality of life, loneliness, personal wellbeing and workplace adjustment and support given to both mentee and mentor.

Bookings open 9am Thursday 24 September 2020

When booking please provide two email addresses as some work computers do not allow access to the ZOOM app due to computer firewalls. The ZOOM app can be downloaded on your iPad/tablet/phone/laptop device.

Click on the link below to book

<https://www.trybooking.com/BLSQA>